The Talon 1965

Volume XVI

Published by the Senior Class of Clarke County High School
Berryville, Virginia

Foreword

"The world stands out on either side
No wider than the heart is wide."

These lines from the last stanza of Edna St. Vincent Millay's "Renascence" are the motto of the Class of 1965. They have been chosen by THE TALON staff as the theme for the 1965 annual.

From September until June, Clarke County High School is the axis about which the student body and our world revolves. It is the heart of our world for five years. As it expands, so does our world, until it "stands out" to encompass Berryville, Clarke County, Virginia, and the world.

Because He Is

Dedication

Iit is not often that a class has the opportunity to honor such a worthy man. As a coach and as a teacher, he has inspired our teams with a desire to win and his students with a desire to gain more knowledge.

In appreciation of the many and varied contributions to our school and the influence he has had in our lives . . . . and most of all, because he is our friend . . . .

The Class of 1965
is exceedingly proud to dedicate the 1965 edition of THE TALON to

MR. RUDY TELEK

Our Friend . . .

the world of . . . .

We wish to pay a tribute to our faculty, who have a far-reaching influence in our lives. It is their responsibility to keep more than five hundred minds growing to reach their full powers by graduation.

In this generation of seekers, they try to develop in our minds the insight, technical knowledge, practical application, diligence, research techniques, patience, sportsmanship, and understanding they know will be necessary in the challenging world of today.

Non-Academic Personnel

Each morning, CCHS students find a warm, clean building with polished floors, due to the efforts of John Malone, Roger Sholes, Mr. Calvin Cooper, and Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Willingham.

Preparing hot rolls for lunch are Mrs. Malcolm McDonald, Mrs. Lawrence White, Mrs. Gladys Racer, Mrs. Stanley Dent, and Mrs. William Carpenter.

The bus drivers pause for a last breath before the 3:12 onslaught. They are--Mr. Joe Lambert, Mr. Charles Fishel, Mrs. Charles Fishel, Mr. Robert Pyne, Mrs. Ellen VanKeuren, Mr. Calvin Cooper, Mr. James Cobb, and Mr. Norman Wynkoop.

The Talon - Editorial Staff

Becky Fritts, Senior and Student Life Editor; Jane Morrison, Faculty and Curriculum Editor; and Cathy Bean, Assistant Faculty and Curriculum Editor.

Barbara Murphy, Organizations Editor; Cindy Cochran, Assistant Organizations Editor; and Gail Mallory, Sports Editor.

We Acquire Knowledge

While in school, the curriculum is the axis about which our world rotates. Art II, Vocational Mechanics II, Contemporary Algebra and Trigonometry, and the Diamond Jubilee issue of Gregg Shorthand have been added to the previous curriculum. Many new teaching aids and other equipment were acquired to supplement the science and mathematics departments.

Using a fraction graph, Mr. Adkins explains operations with fractions to Patricia Owens and Carl Hicks in Mathematics 9.

In Art II, a new course added this year, Mrs. Orrell observes as Becky Fritts and Bob Mackintosh paint impressions.

Audio-visual aids are used to supplement Mr. Boyce's lectures in his U. S. History classes.

through Experience

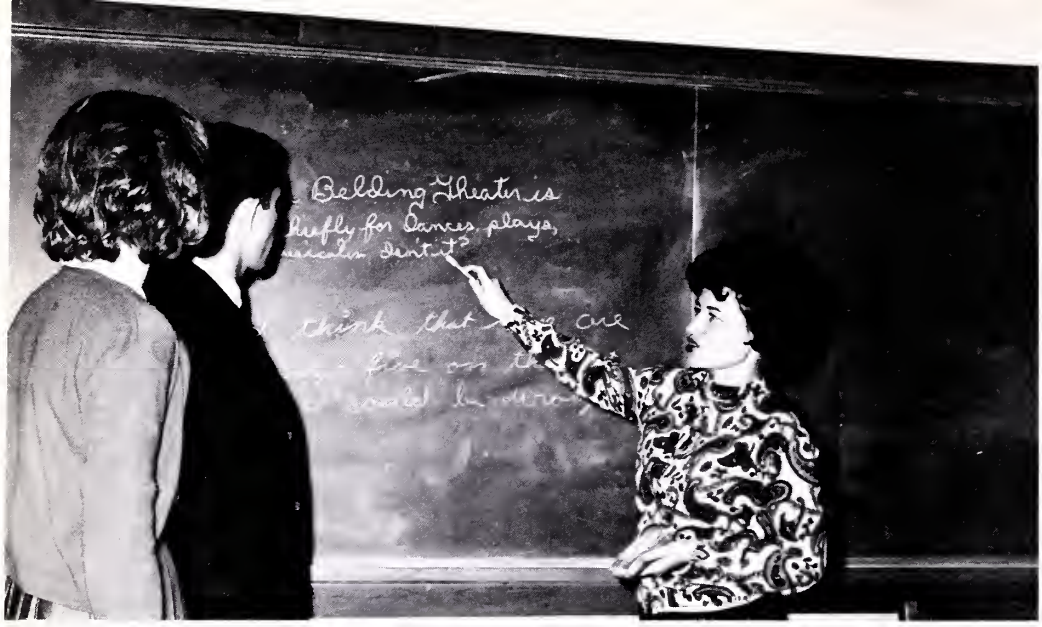
Robert Moulden leads a discussion on the Presidential Election during Mr. Gaines's Civics class.

Mr. Mitchell demonstrates welding techniques with farm machinery to Philip Leake, David Sowers, and Danny Crim, members of one of the agriculture classes.

Public speaking is part of the English curriculum. Mrs. Bushong listens as Gail Fenton delivers a speech.

During the cooking course in home economics, Miss Ford demonstrates how to use a mixer to Pat McClaughry and June Larrick.

Books



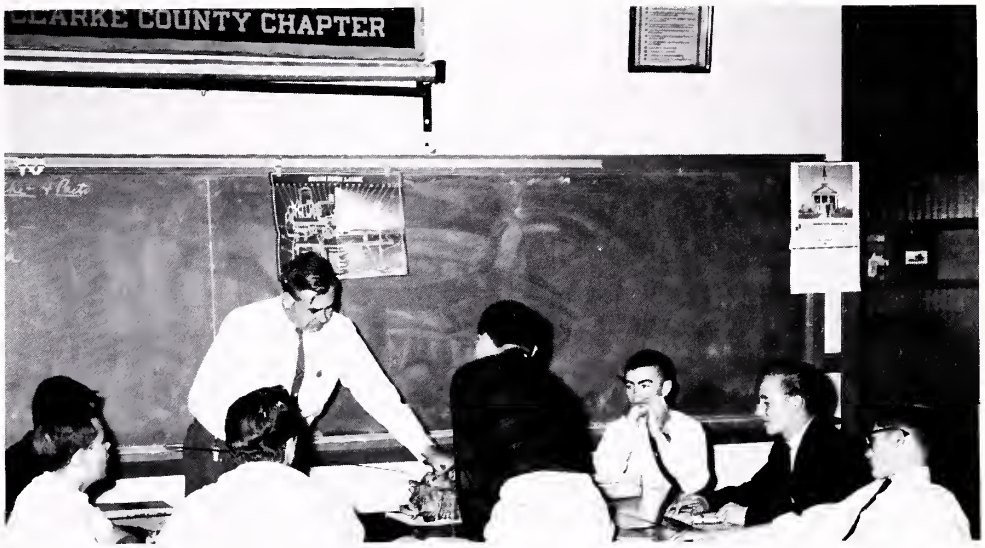
Sandra Strosnider and Elden Tiller probe the mysteries of grammar in Mrs. Gaines's English 9 class.

Mrs. Riley watches as Carolyn Day, Carl Norman, Connie Jackson, and Mike McCarty listen to a tape on the new Vocalette during a French II class.

Mr. Wood approves the mechanical drawing projects of Shepherd Clifton and Donnie Elsea.

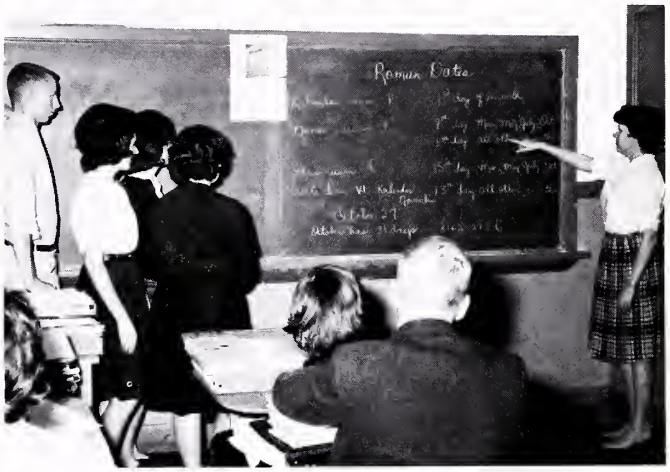
Miss Specht directs three members of the choir, Sandy Arnold, Patsy McDonald, and Judy Richards, as Mary Lyn Brown accompanies them at the piano.

Provide Insights into Life



Mr. Huffman explains the different components of a motor during the Vocational Mechanics II class.

One of the units covered by the Biology classes is the study of the various bones of the body. Mary Armel, Mr. Hartung, and Danny Longerbeam are examining the structure of a human skull.



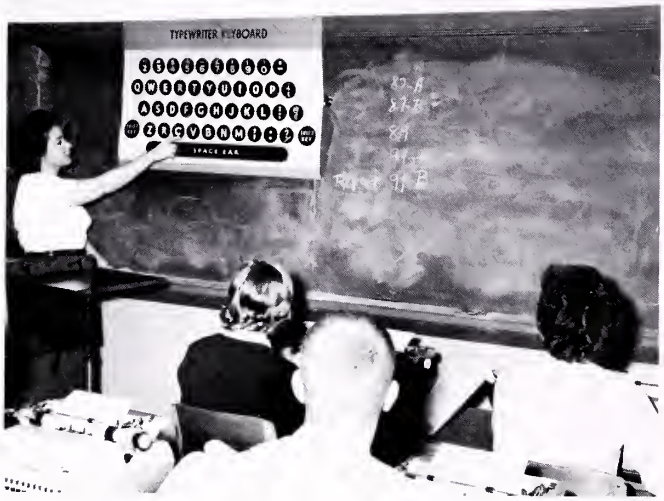
Students in Latin III and IV are reminded by Mrs. Morrison how the Roman dates evolved.

Students in the Industrial Cooperative Training course discover that safety is an important part of any job. Mr. Rush discusses some safety problems with his students.

We Learn through Relationships

Mr. Myers explains to his world history class the inadequacies of the Roman Empire while at the mercy of the Goths and Visigoths.

Mrs. Loope reviews the modern version of "Hamlet," which her English 12 students saw at a local theater.

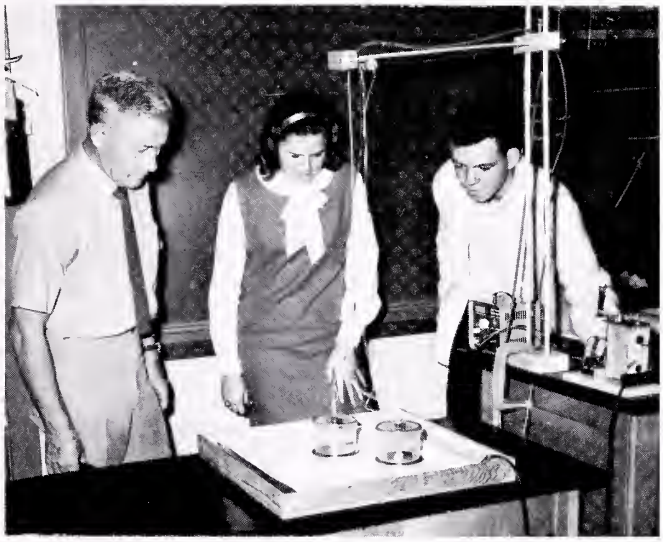


Mrs. Ellis explains the position of the letters on the keyboard to the Typing I students.

Miss Cunningham demonstrates the correct way to hold a hockey stick to one of her physical education pupils, as the other girls begin the game with a bully.

with Teachers

Mrs. Cepelka shows Jane Lichliter, Jo Ann Royston, and Connie Yowell the arts of knitting and crocheting during their home economics class.



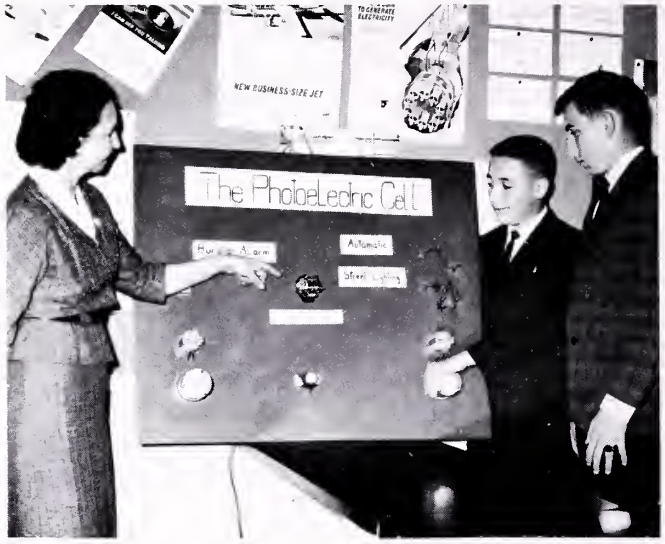
Captain Stickney, Linda Cook, and Tom Iden conduct an experiment in physics to demonstrate motion without friction.

Tension mounts in Mr. Chicchirichi's Algebra I class as students anticipate their six week's test grades.

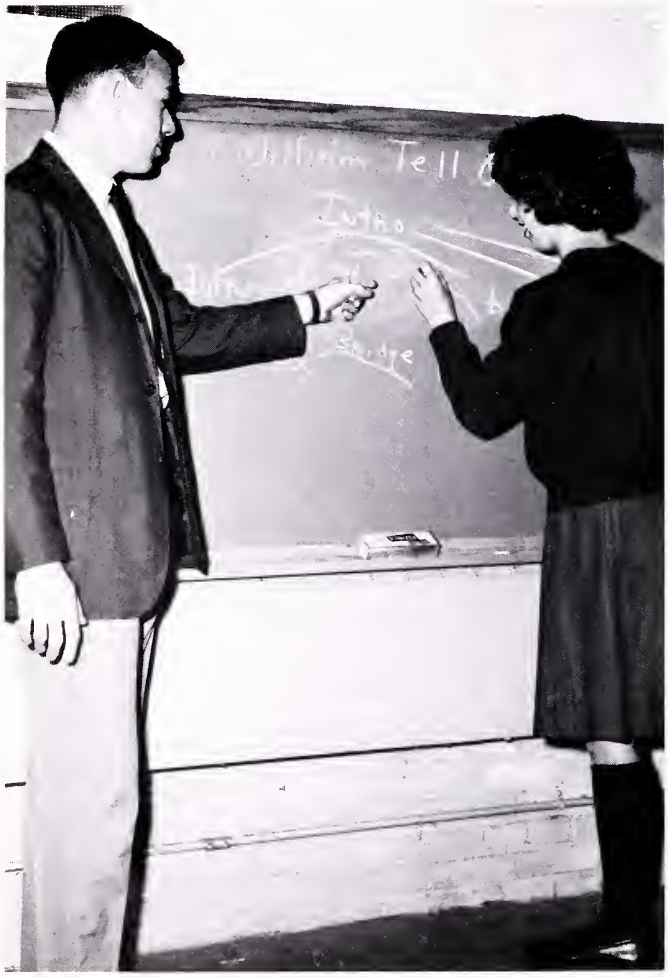
Students examine a library exhibit displayed by Mrs. Bean that explains the steps in Doubleday & Co., Inc.'s publication of Dwight Eisenhower's book, MANDATE FOR CHANGE.

Students Share

Miss Stone elaborates on the role of poetry in literature to her English 11 class.



Mrs. Woolston explains the Photoelectric Cell to two students in her Science 8 class, Mike Reed and John Carroll.



Cathy Bean analyzes the "William Tell Overture" during the Music Appreciation class as Mr. Edwards supervises.

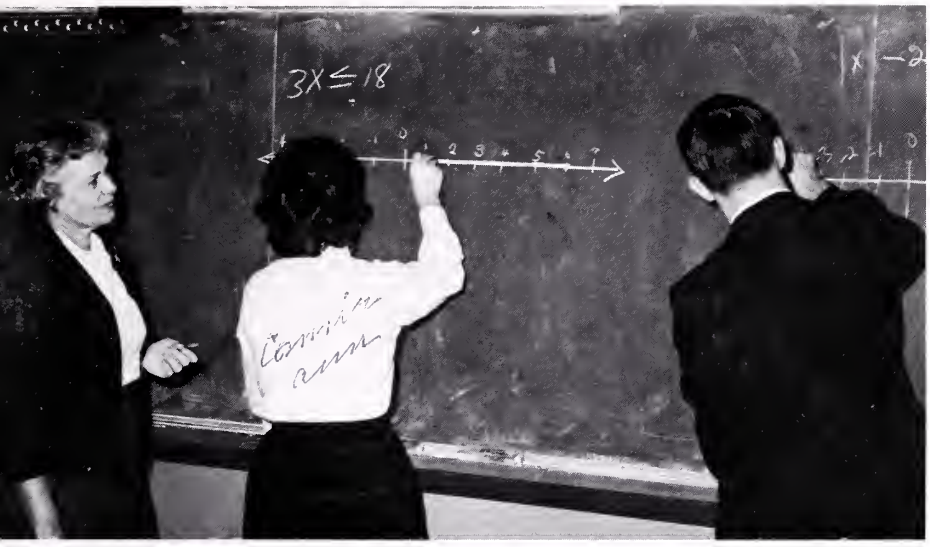
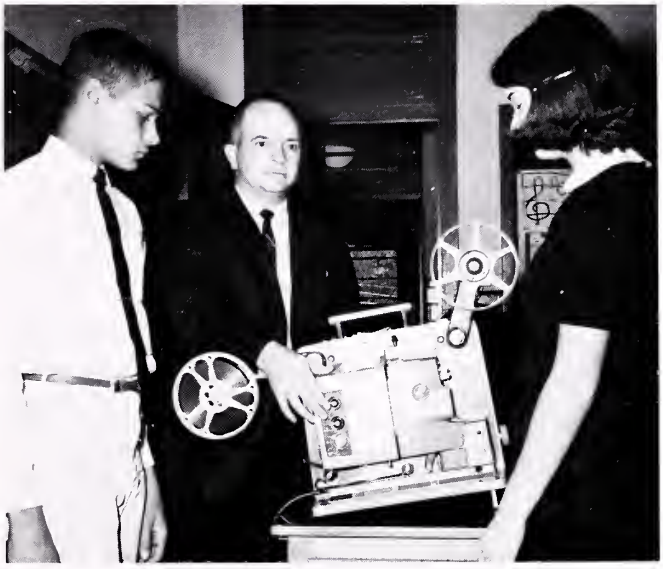
their Ideas



Connie McClaughry and Wayne Cain draw number lines in algebra and trigonometry while Mrs. Cook supervises.



Mr. Telek, assisted by Alvin Feltner, and Jo Ann Hummer, prepares to show a film about the Soviet Union to his geography class.

Mrs. Wisecarver explains the trial balance section of the work sheet to two bookkeeping students, John Armel and Gail Rothrock.

The excitement of the race reaches a climax as the boys enter the stretch in Mr. Reid's physical education class.

the world of . . . .

Our school is not only the center of our educational life, but also our social life. Here is where we laugh and joke with our friends, cheer enthusiastically for our teams, participate in club and class activities, and learn the values of friendship and co-operation. Glimpses of the students' world at CCHS are captured on the pages that follow.

Student Life

Our World Has

The first Senior project of the year is their candy sale. Mary Lyn Brown, Camilla Armel, Wanda Ferrebee, Jane Alger, and Jane Lichliter (SEATED) prepare posters for the sale.

Clarke County's paperback library is popular with students. Available books range from Shakespeare's plays to THE FINKS FROM OUTER SPACE.

Queen Sally Burton and King Ray Burke dance to "Harbor Lights", the theme of the Junior-Senior Prom of 1964.

Many Facets

Merry Christmas! Carolyn Emerick and Mary Lou Shugars arranged the prize-winning door for the SCA contest.

Ruth McClaughry screams with horror as Terry Hayton "purges" himself in front of Punky Everhart during the Senior Play, "The Little Dog Laughed."

A familiar scene around C.C.H.S. is the never-ending lunch line. Those Senior privileges certainly are advantageous at lunchtime!

Did you forget to subscribe to THE TALON? Lois McCarty gets her subscription from Jane Morrison, Circulation Manager, as Brenda Lloyd and Barbara Murphy wait their turn.

At exam time, everyone buckles down and crams, crams, CRAMS!

Barbara Murphy, through her V.O.T. class, and Janet Feltner and Camilla Armel assist the school secretary by working in the office during the school day.

Students Enjoy

Let's give one big fight, FIGHT! E-A-G-L-E-S! WHOOP! WHOOP!

Cheerleaders of all sizes support the Eagle teams. Coach Reid's daughter helps to cheer the Eagles on to another victory.

Homecoming Queen and Court--(FRONT) Mike Buckner, Crownbearer. (BACK) Lynn Burke, Jane Lichliter, John Kinsey, Gayle Dillard, Queen Ruth McClaughry, Gary Longerbeam, Jinx Woodward, Bill Jenks, Carol Alger, and Eddie Marlow.

We caught her muddy-handed! She's the one who switched the potted plants in Rooms 3 and 21!

School Life

The Bird Dance Beat rocks the Community Building when the students of C.C.H.S. and their friends congregate for a dance at the Canteen.

Mrs. Elizabeth Glascock discusses with Mr. Thomas Barbour her lesson plans for the coming week. Mrs. Glascock and Mr. Barbour joined the faculty at the beginning of the second semester.

These overworked seniors are concentrating on government questions and reports, THE NEW YORK TIMES, English essays and short stories, book reviews . . . .

Chairmen of the Magazine Drive, Bill Morrison, Sherry Glasscock, and Bonita Hummer are determining their class profit.

Time certainly does fly! The three minutes between classes are the shortest three minutes in the world!

Work is never over for the Juniors; after the magazine drive comes the Junior play. Members of the play committee review many plays before they make their choice.

Burgeons

New York, here we come! Becky Fritts (center) and Jane Morrison (in striped suit!) helps Barbara Murphy decide what to pack.

the world of . . . .

The first season of our lives is now over, for we, as Seniors, have emerged in the final form and must leave this comfortable world of which we have been for so long a part.

But this is not the final scene, for we are entering into a new world--a broadening world of opportunity.

Eagles

Make It 38

The Eagles football team became the high school team to have the longest winning streak in football in the state of Virginia. They attained this distinction when they won their thirty-eighth game by defeating Strasburg. Although there was a null tie with Elkton earlier in the season, this did not affect our streak. Even though the Eagles did not receive the District Ten Championship this year, they showed the undying spirit and desire to win that made them soar to new heights.

After the football season, the Eagles advanced into a higher grouping with tougher competition. Next year they will play in the Northwestern District, Group 1-B, with James Wood, Handley, Herndon, Fauquier, and George Mason.

Coach Reid, left, concentrates on the defense of the Eagle line while backfield coach, Mr. Telek, reviews a play with Buck Potts (33) and Mike McCarty (21).

Steve Denney (26) breaks through the Broadway line and romps over the goal for another Eagle touch down.

Above, Steve Denney (26) attempts to cage a Wildcat so Mike McCarty (21) can gain yardage for the Eagles.

Young Eagles Try Their Wings

Because of the loss of most of last year's players, the J. V. football team began the season with boys who had the desire, but not the experience that a winning team must have. But, through the excellent coaching of Mr. Dean, these boys soon developed the teamwork and techniques that are instrumental in compiling records to be proud of. Although they did not win any games, they learned the skills of teamwork and cooperation that will make them a winning team next year.

Brad Boehmler and Tom Edens begin their descent toward the finish line.

Kenny Moulden and Bill Whiting keep in shape by doing practice runs on the school grounds.

Cross country is a new phase of sports added to the physical education department this year. Being completely separated from the track team, the boys who participate run the year around and also compete in area meets. Mr. Hartung is the coach of the cross country team.

New Coach, New Team

Mike Pope attempts to overtake Buck Zombro who is leading in their race. Buck placed first and Mike placed fifteenth in a previous meet with area schools.

Bill Baldwin stretches high to gain possession of the ball during a jump with a Rappahannock player.

Fans eagerly support the Eagles at our games throughout the basketball season.

Due to an inexperienced team, composed mostly of sophomores, the Eagles experienced an up and down season. Lack of height proved costly in the rebound area as well as in being able to move the ball. This team, new in the developing stage, will soon culminate into an invincible team.

Mary Richards passes the ball to Brenda Cooper as Debbie Sipe looks on during an intramural hockey game.

Let's Give a Cheer

The varsity football cheerleaders conducted enthusiastic pep rallies, sponsored "Color Day," and plastered the halls and football field with posters and banners in support of the Eagles football team.

Jinx Woodward and Ruth McClaughry plan the layout for the football program after all the ads have been purchased.

Big, definite motions are one of the most important characterisitcs of a cheer. Sherry Glasscock, Beverley Whiting, Mary Lou Shugars, and Lynn McClaughry practice the co-ordination of their motions.

Keeping up to date with the latest cheering routines and techniques helps every cheering squad. Shelby Thompson, Linda Cook (alternate), and Tucker Childs review some of the newest routines.

This is not an end, but a beginning. We now have our foundation, and we must begin to build a world of our own.

We will not wait for tomorrow, for tomorrow is today, and yesterday has never been.

As we pass through a world of darkness, our knowledge is our torch. We see the sun rising on a broadening world of opportunity and challenge. We face the sun, and the world stands out--as far as we let it.
